Event Summary

Knowledge Networks was a key partner at the AI & Big Data Expo London, held from February 5–6, 2025, at Olympia, London, bringing together global experts to discuss AI regulation, ethics, and innovation. RegulatingAI, an initiative by Knowledge Networks, played a pivotal role in driving discussions on AI governance, with Sanjay Puri participating in a high-impact panel on ethical considerations in GenAI and data science. The event provided an influential platform for thought leaders to explore AI's evolving regulatory landscape, fostering collaboration on responsible AI development.

RegulatingAI's Impact

RegulatingAI's engagement at the AI & Big Data Expo London strengthened its position as a key voice in AI governance and policy advocacy. Through live podcast sessions featuring experts like Isa Mutlib and Prof. Anand Rao, it facilitated critical discussions on AI safety and ethics. Social media outreach generated over 53K LinkedIn impressions and 2K+ Twitter interactions, while media coverage spanned 180+ publications across the UK and US. This extensive reach reinforced RegulatingAI's influence in shaping AI's future through ethical and regulatory frameworks.
